

The Montgomery County Coroner’s Office investigates any death that is unexpected, unusual, violent, or suspicious in any way. This may also include deaths by apparent natural causes that are unattended by a physician. The coroner is responsible for determining the cause and manner of death and works closely with local law enforcement and the GBI medical examiner to make this determination.

The coroner performs scene investigations, medical history reviews, and identifications of the deceased as well as arrange for notification of the family, including autopsy, if necessary. The coroner is also responsible for the safeguard of personal affects found on the deceased and their release to the next of kin or appropriate legal representative.

All coroners and deputy coroners in Georgia must initially take a 40-hour training course at the Georgia Public Safety Training Center in Forsyth, Georgia. Following the initial training, personnel are required to complete 24 hours of re-certification training every year on various topics ranging from scene investigation, photography, blood spatter analysis and other similar topics.
